

Dish Society Gains Efficiencies and Reduces Costs Over 5% with Compeat

Dish Society opened their first restaurant in 2014 with a focus on using the highest quality and freshest ingredients possible, sourcing the majority of it from local suppliers. The all-day diner is known for turning out a seasonally changing menu with healthful modern twists on traditional favorites. Today, Dish Society has 2 locations in the Houston area. Dish Society has been utilizing a suite of Compeat products including Compeat Advantage - Accounting, Inventory, and Labor - plus Compeat Hire since June of 2015.

Challenge

Prior to Compeat, Dish Society relied on Quickbooks to manage accounting and utilized a separate, manual inventory system to manage their back office. Quickbooks was not integrated with their Aloha POS so daily sales were posted to accounting by hand. It would take 30-45 days after the end of each month to get accurate financials, making it impossible to do a timely analysis of their daily business. Inventory count valuations were also done manually which was time consuming and the accuracy of information was not reliable.

Solution

Dish Society realized that in order to run their business more efficiently they needed an end-to-end operational and financial control system that was fully integrated with their Point of Sale. They implemented Compeat in both restaurant locations in June of 2015 and began doing all of the Aloha POS polling, daily sales reporting, inventory control, food cost analysis, and accounting via Compeat's Inventory and Accounting modules. They also implemented Compeat Labor to provide them with time and attendance and labor scheduling and Compeat Hire for applicant tracking and onboarding.

Results

Dish Society began seeing benefits almost immediately after implementing Compeat. The built in ability to monitor actual vs. theoretical costs allowed store managers to check-in on the controllable cost of goods on a weekly basis and make necessary adjustments. As a result, they have reduced their food and beverage costs by an impressive amount. "In just 6 months of using Compeat we were able to reduce our controllable cost of goods by an average of 5%," says Trent Patterson, Director of Operations at Dish Society. A seamless integration to their Aloha POS system has allowed Dish Society to automate and streamline their reconciliation and general ledger posting processes. POS information is captured, reported, reconciled, and posted to their General Ledger and banking system in one easy step. Data is entered just one time reducing redundant entry and room for human entry error.

The days of waiting 30-45 days to get month end financials are long gone for Dish Society. With Compeat they are able to get all the financial information they need to submit to their accountant within 3 days at the end of each period. This allows managers to take a real time, actionable approach and drive behavior based on comparable month end reports.

Last but certainly not least, Dish Society has been able to drastically decrease their labor costs with Compeat. "The ability to accurately compare scheduled labor to actual labor, better sales projections, and the streamlined process from having one solution that communicates with everything, has resulted in a 5% drop in labor costs," says Patterson.
